

The difference is Gaggenau.

The new 30" bottom-mount freezer RB 472.

Flawless beauty and uncompromising quality down to the smallest detail – Gaggenau first introduced its refrigeration series in 2007 as the first modular system of fully integrated built-in appliances. Multiple refrigeration columns can be individually combined to create a stylish refrigeration wall. Thanks to innovative cooling and storage technology, as well as its exclusive approach, Gaggenau's refrigeration series sets standards in design, function and convenience.

With a width of only 30 inches, the new bottom-mount freezer RB 472 offers a compact solution within the series. Experience all benefits of the refrigeration series, united in one single unit: The top half is a classic refrigeration compartment, while underneath is a freezer drawer.

Contemporary lighting concept. Bright and generous illumination is supplied by LED lighting pillars on the side. The convenient touch control for the height-adjustable motorized shelf is integrated discreetly.

Significant details. Door bins made from solid aluminum are one signature feature. They are machined with millimeter precision and are exceptionally durable.

Exclusive interior. The interiors of all Gaggenau refrigeration appliances are entirely covered in stainless steel. This guarantees 100 percent hygiene and neutralizes odors without releasing any contaminants.
